Evermore park taylor swift

While Taylor Swift would say: "Look what you made me do ... Following a lawsuit that accused the pop superstar to lift her album name" Sempremore from an amusement park in Utah, the Hitting is famous hassling with legal action of its own. Refusing to shake him, the singer- "Cardigan ", the singer, 31, is a jump evermore Park, in a pleasant grove - for the rotation of Taylor Swift Tunes without cycling. Earlier this month, the theme park officials have accused the singer of "bad blood brand trade mark," saying that his album had caused his confusion "and has negatively affected their ranking of search engines, "Reported salt lake Tribune. the prosecutor of the Swift called their claims" waseless, and ignored the cease-and-desist letter sent to his camp on December 18. Now, the TAS rights management, brand management and rights Swift The team is training that Evermore Park has played the music of the Pop Star "authorization or license agreement, "according to Rolling Stone. The appointment specifically suit the songs "Love Story, "I belong to me - and" Blood Blood." The Taylor Swift field requires Evermore Park Pay "statutory damages to turn his music without permission in their attraction fantasy. The whole park it turns out, the park has been in hot water about music without license some time: in 2019, performance rights organization BMI has sent letters to always tell the violation of the violation "unnecessarily. Evermore to finally responded to the letters, the lawyers have said Swift, but only after learning his background waiting. "in the past, letters were mailed to your attention along with the licenses that reflect your fee musical use of $ 1,728,67 (USD) for the period May 2019 to December 2019 alone, "according to court documents obtained by Pitchfork. "This fee does not include all the other periods in which you were using unlicensed music. The TAS calls Evermore Park Pay "statutory damages "for violations. It will cause each other ... never again. Taylor Swift and Evermore Park, a theme park in Utah, dropped the lawsuits filed each other in February, according to the Swift range. Neither of them had any money in cash agreement to put aside their respective claims. "a resolution of both lawsuits, the parties will fall and get fired their seeds without monetary settlement", said a statement by the spokesman for Swift. It was not possible to reach reps Evermore for the park. the theme park, which has rides and is closer to an experience of Renaissance irreversible, is currently closed, after having to cancel the planned winter season and have dozens of employees as a result of the conditions imposed by the pandemic. Evermore Park was the first in her, on 2 February in Utah, claiming that the album's release in December of Swift, "Sempremore "and the merchandise of her with her assistant violated Attraction brands. On February 22, the company Swift, rights management is suing Evermore Park in exchange for his home state of Tennessee, claiming that the attraction had long had its costumed performers singing shots Swift and others unlicensed, despite requests made in the past by the organization of the BMI performance rights. On the surface, the two lawsuits treated with unrelated issues, although the cause TAS caused tangentially did mention the suit filed 20 days before Evermore Park. In depth in rapid because, it was said that her lawyers were contacted 3 February-the day after the Evermore's Park tube Presented "for" Voluntariato Volunonto and frequent Patron Park of Evermore Park, advise public benefits without a license of the artist's music.
